Your itinerary

This city-based stay explores how water has shaped the city, life, and history of Berlin for centuries. You'll begin by enjoying activities ranging from sightseeing to visiting a hydroponic farm. From there, escape to the countryside—just like a local—to enjoy leisure kayaking on the scenic waterways of Spreewald. In Potsdam, learn how water influenced where the German aristocracy built their homes, then move on to water's more recent role during the Cold War. Then come together with other teachers and students to explore The Impact of Water on Society at our inspiring leadership conference.
